News from Bradleys Both Parish Council

The April meeting of the PC was our first to be held remotely via telephone conferencing. Despite trimming our usual business and conversation to the bare minimum, it was not easy. Some of us were talking in bathrooms, others from another planet, and some, though able to listen, couldn't get a word in edgeways, as they accidentally muted themselves. The Chairman, trying to keep order, found it difficult through lack of visual cues.

This month [7-30 pm, 19th May] we hope to use Zoom. Bradley residents, as always, are invited to listen, watch and join in during the public session. Details of access will be published on the PC website and noticeboards nearer the time. As a fallback, Mags now has the delegated authority to take decisions if all else collapses.

Despite the impression given above, the PC is very active. We are looking at the improvement and maintenance of our boundary with the Matthew Lane development; drawing up plans for the hard surfacing of the canalside carpark for which we have agreed funding; and have resumed grass cutting around the village before it gets unmanageable. Our draft neighbourhood plan has been independently assessed and we hope to have a final version shortly for submission.

Since the lockdown, I feel that our residents, and most of their dogs, have become friendlier and kinder to each other. That particular Yorkshire neighbourliness has become so much more evident, and I trust it will continue.

David Cohn Chairman, Bradleys Both Parish Council.

A message from Mr Rogers, Headteacher

Bradley Community Primary School

The Staff and Governors at Bradleys Both CP School send everyone in the community their very best wishes during these unprecedented times. School closed to children and staff on Friday 20th March following

Government guidance, alongside all schools across the country. The staff team have supported a group of essential and critical Key Worker parents from our school community to enable them to continue with their important and key roles to support the wider community. It is important at these times to remember everyone's vulnerabilities. The school catering team have provided a collection service for those receiving free school meals. We hope some of you may have seen the children's Coronavirus fighting superheroes and colourful rainbows displayed in the noticeboard and the children's windows around the village. We look forward to returning to school as soon as it is safe to do so. Our thoughts are with everyone in our local community.

Age UK North Yorkshire and Darlington are providing a range of services to over 50s across South Craven to help support them through the Coronavirus pandemic. Their Good Friends service provides trained and vetted telephone befrienders who can give a regular telephone call, or write letters if a phone call is not appropriate due to hearing difficulties, to older people across South Craven. The charity runs an information & advice service which can provide free accredited advice on benefits and offers free benefits checks to make sure that older people are getting all of the support that they are entitled to. They can also offer a range of advice to help you deal with household bills, dealing with issues with suppliers and information about how to access banking services from home. These services can be accessed by calling 01756 529654 or by emailing enquiries@ageuknyd.org.uk.

Working alongside local caterers the organisation will be expanding its successful hot food delivery service to cover South Craven in the coming weeks. This provides a hot, nutritious two course meal for only £5 delivered to the door to help keep older and vulnerable people healthy. The organisation hopes that this will be starting in the coming weeks. For more details about the service and how to access it, call 01325 741 492
